Organization

ABIN-PA was organized as a nonprofit 501(c)(3) corporation in 2007 by brain injury survivors and family members to help others with the same challenges. You are welcome to help by attending board meetings, committees, mailing parties, potlucks, and other events.

Mission

ABIN-PA is dedicated to increasing public awareness about acquired brain injury and to providing support, information, education, advocacy and other services for individuals with acquired brain injury and their families.

Website

The www.abin-pa.org website has had 20,505 visitors since August 1, 2006. It is motionless and silent with simple navigation. The site includes Our Stories, Newsletters, Links, a Rehab Facility Search, a Support Group list and TV interview, a state DVD, Curt Allen's recovery using hyperbaric oxygen and free download for 20+ Pamphlets, and a 24 page booklet, "Building A New Life After Brain Injury: A Peer to Peer Training".

Yahoo E-list

This list of 100 members began in 2000. You will find news on meetings and conferences, state documents for comment, national and state affairs, and a little humor and inspiration added to the mix. For frequent emails on disability topics from a wide variety of sources, join the free e-list at: groups.yahoo.com/group/abin-pa.

Monthly Newsletter

ABIN-PA's free newsletter began in February 2007. Over 975 survivors, family members, and community decision makers receive an emailed or mailed copy each month and many contribute articles. You can call, email or go on the website to sign up. You can print copies from the website to share with others. Consider sending in an article or placing an advertisement!

InfoLine

ABIN-PA assists callers with resource information and advocacy. Callers include survivors, families, social workers, attorneys, parole officers, providers, and others. You are welcome to call with questions. Also, we need volunteers to help handle calls. If interested, please contact us and ask for training.

Advocacy

ABIN-PA participates in many state and local initiatives to provide the perspective of our brain injury community. We need volunteers to attend the meetings of community collaboratives, county forensic task forces, county disability committees, congregational disability committees, and other cross disability initiatives.

Programs

ABIN-PA provides staff training, information tables, free literature, talks, Leadership Training, seminars, and conference workshops.

Donations

Your tax-deductible contributions keep our programs running. With your help, we can do more!
